Surprise for Mr. Ford
1,000 Marriages Analyzed
The Ten Greatest
New Ideas Needed

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

A SURPRISE for Henry Ford. Nothing could surprise him, except Russia.

He got scores of young Russians to Detroit, gave them jobs in his plant, taught them about his business. He has machinery for making automobile tractors to Russia, engineers to show Russia how to use them, and how to use them.

What does Russia do? Russia buys Fordson tractors, delivered in Russia, at $100 below the price. That is "dumping" with vengeance.

Surprise Henry Ford, after all this work, for he doesn't need business, and has always stood that whoever can make the best product for the money should have the business.

I wonder how they do it. Ford reports for 1930 showed profits of a little over $40,000,000, less than $40 for each unit, much smaller than that of dealers. If Mr. Ford had taken $500 from each unit, he could have paid $60 per unit, and that would have been fair pay.

The Russians seem to be a very efficient people.

DR. ROBERT DICKINSON of New York tells the American Medical association that analysis of the sexual lives of "1,000 cultured American women" shows that 50 per cent of the women are unhappy in most cases, "due to wrong conditions."

Taboos and fears, implanted by religious and educational training in the women, cause this trouble."

Tell husbands that take married life and a wife for granted, also cause trouble. Montaigne, in one of his essays, quotes the advice of a wise old woman or the time of Montaigne, who told a young bride: Put off your modesty with your petticoat."

Petticoats have disappeared from ladies' equipment, but taboos, based on false modesty, still remain.

THE ARISCHEONIC SOCIETY will select "the 10 greatest men in history" and seal up in a vault their visible talking images imprinted on rolls of celluloid. Their fingerprints, autographs, family trees, medical history, and biological data will all be found when the vault is opened 100 years hence.

The 10 "greatest" will be actually seen and heard talking. By that time the world will know who the greatest 10 men in the United States really were in 1931 and will ask those in heaven have selected these 10?"

MR. SELFRIDGE, who worked for Marshall Field in Chicago and now works for himself in London, with great success, offers five prizes, $500 each, to British journalists. The best piece of foreign news, best "scoop," which means exclusive news; best descriptive reporting, best article on industry, commerce or finance, the most interesting photograph, will get the prizes.

Not a bad selection, but the best article on industry, commerce or finance might be thrown out, and a prize for the BEST NEW IDEA substituted for it.

New ideas have made newspaper men worth while—for instance, Charles Dana, Pulitzer, Hearst.

GRANARY, MACHINERY BURN

Loss in Fire Near Caledonia Expected To Reach $1,500.

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, O., June 12—Damage expected to reach $1,500 was caused by a fire last night which destroyed a machine shed and granary and the contents of machinery and grain on the C. F. Ellis farm two miles east of here. The farm is owned by Harry Iler of Marion.

A can of gasoline caught fire from a match while Elza Needles, brother-in-law, and Otto Reese, step-son of Ellis, were filling the tank of a truck.

Needles said he had lighted a match to search for some articles in the machine. When he threw the match away it fell in some gasoline on the ground. The flames spread to the container. Needles and Reese were not injured.

A tractor, farm machinery, 300 bushels of oats, 100 bushels of barley and wheat in addition to the building were destroyed. The Caledonia fire department was called and saved the house and other buildings.

A week ago Mrs. Ellis was mysteriously attacked in her room and beaten about the head with a stove shaker. No trace of her assailant has been found and Morrow county authorities have announced that the investigation has been dropped.

WOMAN, 81, BURNED

Farm Home Near Marseilles Damaged by Fire

Special to The Star

MARSEILLES, O., June 12 — Mrs. Elizabeth Kreisel, 81, was burned this morning when her home two miles east of here was damaged by fire.

Mrs. Kreisel was burned about the arms, face and back when a draft caused the flames to leap through a door where she was standing. She also is suffering from shock, but her condition is not considered serious.

The interior of the house was badly damaged and the loss is expected to be more than $1,000. Her son, Lester Bear and Lewis Bell extinguished the flames. The La-Rue fire department was called but it arrived after the flames had been put out.

The fire started in a box of corn cobs which Mrs. Kreisel had taken from the oven after drying them to start a fire in the stove the next morning. It is thought the cobs were smouldering when taken from the oven and later caught afire.

BOND WITHDRAWN; FRIERS REARRESTED

Man Charged with Arson Here To Be Returned to City Today.

Sam Friers of Cleveland, arrested two weeks ago by Fire Marshal J. L. Patterson on an arson charge following a fire in a store room in the Marion theater building last month, was rearrested in Cleveland yesterday at the request of local police. Friers had been at liberty under a $2,000 bond.

The arrest followed the receipt of a telegram from a surity concern in Detroit which had furnished the bond to the effect that the bond had been issued contrary to the company's rules and would be recalled. Friers, it was expected, will be brought here late today.

Ben Miller of Sandusky, a partner of Friers in the shoe business who was arrested with him was released early this week under a $2,000 cash bond. The two will be arraigned before Municipal Judge W. R. Martin at 10 a. m.

Retired Army Sergeant Leaves $100,000 Estate

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12—John J. Fitzgerald, former top sergeant in the United States army, who died here yesterday left an estate of approximately $100,000.

Fitzgerald often told friends a man could save more money in the army than in civilian life, and during his years of service, collected no salary. When he retired, the government handed him $16,000 in pay and interest, and a pension of $67 a month.

Investments accounted for the remainder of the estate.

JURY PROBING DROWNING CASE

District Attorney Directs Inquiry into Starr Faithfull's Mystery Death.

RELATIVES QUESTIONED

It's Thought Stepfather and Sister Haven't Told All They Know.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jne 12—Investigation of the drowning of Miss Starr Faithfull, whose diary tells of experiencing every thrill, reached the grand jury stage today. District Attorney Elvin N Edwards of Nassau county said he would call 15 witnesses at Mineola.

Among witnesses to whom Edwards desired to give first attention was Stanley E. Faithfull, the girl's stepfather, whose name she took. Edward said he believed Faithfull had not told all he knew.

Will Question Sister

Edwards wished to give special attention also to Elizabeth Tucker Faithfull, Starr's younger sister, who prefers the name Sylvia. Edwards said Sylvia had been mysterious about where she had been over the week-end. He expressed curiosity as to whether Sylvia had been in the company of Starr and two men prior to Starr's disappearance last Friday.

Starr's body was washed ashore at Long Beach last Monday. Inquiry since then as to the activities of the 25-year-old girl, who lived in Greenwich village, a member of a family in modest circumstances, has developed incidents of gay life in New York and London and on liners, with one visit to a hospital for acute alcoholism and one trip to a sanitarium for observation.

Find 30-Page Diary

A 30-page dairy written by Starr and found by a detective in the Faithfull home contains the following:

"I have experienced every sensation if holds and if (deletion) does not meet me soon, I have nothing to live for."

Most of the contents of the diary were withheld. Detectives said there were various referenes to the possibility of suicide.

"SLAIN," ARTIST SAYS

Thinks Girl Killed To Prevent Testimony in Scandal Case.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 12 — Rudolph Haybrook, artist, was quoted by the Daily Mail today as saying he believed Starr Faithfull had been slain in New York because she was to have been the principal witness in "a $25,000 settlement case which would have caused a sensation when it came to court."

(Stanley E. Faithfull, her stepfather, has denied this statement is true.)

Identifying Haybrook as Miss Faithfull's closest friend in London and as the fiance of her sister Elizabeth, the paper further quoted him to the effect that there were influential people in New York who were concerned in the case and to whom her death would have been a matter of importance.

Three prominent alienists testified that Wilt was feeble-minded, had the mentality of a six-year-old boy and that he would be unable mentally to consult with attorneys in preparation of a defense should he be tried on a first degree murder charge. The alienists were Dr. Guy H. Williams, superintendent of the Cleveland state hospital; Dr. J. D. O'Brien, of Canton, and Dr. Arthur G. Hyde, superintendent of the Massillon state hospital.

The commitment order provides that if the youth's mental faculties ever are developed he shall be returned to Stark county to stand trial on two murder indictments.

HOOVER ASKED FOR MEETING TO AID MINERS

Coal Union Suggests Joint Conference with Bituminous Operators, Workmen.

ACUTE CONDITIONS CITED

Officials Believe Industry Unable To Solve Problems Without Assistance.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, June 12—Expressing belief the bituminous coal industry is unable to correct its ills, the United Mine Workers of America have called on President Hoover to convene a joint conference of operators and miners.

A resolution adopted yesterday by the executive board of the union was telegraphed to the President by John L. Lewis, international head of the miners.

The board set out that "unrestrained competition had degraded thousands of bituminous coal miners to levels approximating serf labor," alleged the coal operators are "without leadership," and added "this disorganized relationship makes it impossible for the employed workers to secure hearings to plead their miserable plight."

Bad Conditions Cited

Relating that conditions are "most acute in the great coal producing states of Kentucky, West Virginia, and Ohio and Pennsylvania," the resolution adds that the board feels "that the inhuman plight of the women and children, the insecurity of the capital assets of the coal companies, the degradation of the men employed in the coal mines, all of which are breeding communism and anarchy, are of such serious moment that the government of the United States can no longer pursue a passive policy."

There has been "too much palliative talk and insufficient action," the union officials said. They asked the president to convene the joint meeting "for the purpose of mutually discussing the problems of the industry and finding a common basic understanding," and requested that it "not be delegated as a department matter, but should be sponsored and aided to the fullest extent possible by your office."

The board reminded the president that "your knowledge and experience as a mining engineer especially equips you to recognize the necessity of the bituminous coal industry adopting a program stabilizing labor costs as the first fundamental step to a correction of present day ills. The history of the bituminous coal industry reveals that the joint wage agreement has been the only stabilizing force the industry has ever known."

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, O., June 12—The breach of promise suit of Arlene Seebach of Marion against Erman Herr, Galion business man, was dismissed today in common pleas court here at the cost of the plaintiff.

Miss Seebach sued Herr for $10,000 charging the latter had broken their engagement after numerous pre-nuptial parties had been held for her.

Girl Flier Well Protected for Trans-Atlantic Flight

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 12—On a solo flight to Europe, scheduled to start within a few days if weather is good, Ruth Nichols, holder of three woman's air records, will traverse the frigid regions of the upper air, but the chances are that the only part of her to suffer from cold will be her tongue.

The cabin of her plane is heated by the engine, making the enclosed space so warm that she only expects to wear cotton mechanics' jumper over her sports dress, although she will take a heavy flying suit in case of need. On her head she will simply have a bandana instead of the fur lined helmet necessary for altitude flying in less protected ships.

But there will be no way to offset the freezing effect of cold oxygen on her tongue, which became stiff when cold from this source during the flight in which she established a new altitude record for women.

On the Atlantic flight Miss Nichols will carry two flasks of oxygen, which for convenience are placed in the unheated wings above her head with rubber tubes hanging on either side of her head. She expects to fly high, in case of storms in the lower strata of the atmosphere going up to 30,000 feet or even more. At such heights she will need oxygen.

At the first sensation of difficult breathing Miss Nichols will place one of the tubes in her mouth and draw oxygen into her lungs with each breath of the rarified upper air. This oxygen will be freezing cold and she is expecting that her parts of her voyage her tongue will be so numbed that she would have difficulty talking even if there were anyone there to talk to.

Extra Precautions Against Further Outbreaks Taken in Belmont County After Attack Is Made on Sheriff.

GOVERNOR IS WARNED OF IMPENDING RIOT

Prosecutor and Mine Manager Tell White Serious Trouble Is Near; Last Night's Attack Leaders on Hunger Strike.

By The Associated Press

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 12—The three alleged leaders of the Belmont county mine strike arrested last night during an attempt to free 11 strikers from the county jail, went on a hunger strike at noon today. They said the hunger strike would continue until they were released.

The three were Leo Thompson, 29, and Tony C. Giugna, 31, of Pittsburgh, and Fanta Spontano, 50, of New Lafferty, O. Thompson said they had voted to eat nothing until freed. The 11 men they attempted to release from the jail ate a hearty lunch.

Sheriff Howard Duff reported that "Thompson said immediate action will be taken to obtain our release either by delivery or legal methods."

The sheriff said Thompson admitted leading the strike in the eastern Ohio coal fields and that he was a communist.

The disorders at the jail, the first serious outbreak in the week-old strike, followed the arrest of eleven leaders of a March on the New Laferty mine of the M. A. Hanna Coal company, where 320 men have continued at work despite the strike.

Quiet prevailed at the mine this morning, altogether 125 pickets were on duty and had persuaded about 10 per cent of the workers to quit. Deputy sheriffs kept the crowd about the mine moving, and little trouble was expected. The deputies were augmented by several machine guns placed in position by mine officials after reports were circulated that another attempt to force the miners to quit would be made this afternoon.

Deputies brought tear gas bombs into play last night when the crowd attacked Sheriff Howard Duff. Only one bomb was thrown, but it was sufficient to demoralize the crowd and cause the demonstrations to break up.

With 40 deputies at the New Lafferty mine, Sheriff Duff held 20 others, sworn in early today, in readiness at the county jail for any fresh outbreak of trouble. The new deputies were recruited from local members of the American Legion.

Governor Warned

A serious riot at New Lafferty mine of the Hanna Coal company late this afternoon cannot be averted, Paul D. Waddell, prosecuting attorney of Belmont county told Governor White at Columbus today. Waddell and R. L. Ireland, vice president and general manager of the M. A. Hanna Coal company gave the governor first hand information on the east Ohio coal field strike.

Waddell and Ireland told the governor the strikers from the Jefferson county area were returning to the New Lafferty mine in an attempt to force several hundred workers there to join the strike.

They did not ask for national guard troops or an investigation, but requested that the governor keep in touch with the situation so the state could be prepared to act in any major emergency that may arise.

The governor informed the men he already had an observer in the strike area and was keeping in constant touch with the situation.

They told the governor the miners were willing to work but that "radicals from Pittsburgh, Jersey City and Cleveland, have threatened them."

MARCH TO FOUR MINES

Strike Forces in Pittsburgh District Seeking Recruits.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 12—Crowds of men and women marched from mining towns in the Pittsburgh district this morning to four coal mines where men still are at work, and sought to enlist more in the tri-state district coal strike.

In a demonstration near Montour mine No. 10 of the Pittsburgh Coal company, five women were arrested for violating Sheriff Robert S. Cain's orders forbidding women and children to take part in strike marches. Between 500 and 600 men marched on the mine. The women were removed to the sheriff's office.

A man described as a bystander was wounded in the leg at Gallitin when officers fired several shots to break up a meeting of miners last night. Four men in an automobile, who were said to be miners, were stoned at Wildwood.

LIMA GIRL'S BODY FOUND

Weighted Down in Quarry with Heavy Stone; Murdered, Police Say.

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., June 12—The body of Miss Thelma Woods, 17, who disappeared last May 30, was found at the bottom of an old stone quarry here today. It was weighted down with a 30-pound stone. Officials said she was murdered.

The girl's hands were bound together in front of her by a strong cord, and her face was bruised and discolored.

Officials continued pumping the stone quarry in an attempt to completely drain it in the belief the body of her escort, Earl Truesdale, 20, of Elida, would be located there.

The couple disappeared Decoration day after attending a dance at a park here. Their abandoned automobile was found alongside the quarry and officials ordered the water pumped out. It was a very slow process but eventually revealed a blanket which the couple had in the automobile.

HYDE ADDS BOOST IN HOOVER DRIVE

Agriculture Secretary's Praise of President Cheered by Young Republicans.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 12—The Hoover drive started yesterday by Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee and Postmaster General Brown was continued today by Secretary Hyde in his speech before the young Republican conference.

"The President of the United States is all right," the secretary of agriculture asserted. His declaration stirred a demonstration.

After a speech upon the farm board policies, the secretary brought up the presidential issue.

"I doubt if any man," he said, "was ever subjected to malice organized to the Nth degree which he has, but he has never raised his voice in complaint."

Hyde called upon the young Republicans to wield polo mallets on the "yes-but" members in the party. Lauding the Republican party he added "I can't understand what there is of progressivism in running around in circles singing hymns of hate."

Hyde emphasized that the "real job" of the farm board was to aid in the organization of agriculture. He said stabilization operations were "incidental and emergency."

The secretary said the board's stabilization operations last year in wheat and cotton had saved the farmers and allied citizens.

New Record

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 12—Well, Oklahoma sheriffs broke a record. They finally found a car with no liquor in it, but it had to be occupied by Mexicans to do it so they shot two of 'em for being unusual.

The sheriff's excuse was that the car had a Kansas license on it. (Kansas adjoins Oklahoma.) Does a foreign license in Oklahoma bring out the gunfarmer or is it the name Kansas that makes you shoot on sight? If he had shouted his badge instead of his gun the whole thing wouldn't have happened.

Well, it's lucky for Mr. Pershing, for if the conditions had been reversed he would have been marooning into Mexico today "to clean that country up and make 'em civilized."

County Auditor Tells Club About New Tax Bill

E. Thomas Explains Provisions of Proposed Ohio Measure at Meeting of Kiwanis Club; Believes Collection Cost Will Increase.

...as to the ability of the ...law passed by the general ...several days ago, to provide financial relief for which ...created, was expressed by ...Auditor Earl E. Thomas in ...the Kiwanis club at the ...ch yesterday.

...he bill, if it becomes a law, ...ice more revenue was con... the auditor, but with the ... receipts will come addi... expenses, which, he said, ...sume a large part of the ... revenue.

Four Settlement Days

...ax settlement days each year instead of two as in the past, together with a large increase in the number of duties assigned to the office of the county auditor and state tax commission all of which, he said, meant the employment of additional help, was pointed out by the speaker, as the reasons why the new bill will not provide the relief anticipated.

A large part of the additional revenue, the auditor said, would come from the tax on deposits in both banks and building loans. The bill providing that the officials of all banks and building loans furnish an accurate report of their deposits each year. To discourage false reports, the tax commission is given authority by the bill, to send examiners into any bank or building loan at any time and make a check of deposits.

The bill also provides a two-mill levy on bank and building loan deposits. This, it was explained by the speaker, would be paid by the bank in a lump sum since the additional bookkeeping required to take care of the details, would not justify the taking of the tax from each individual account.

Must Be Accurate

The aditor also warned about accuracy in making returns under the new bill. If at the first of the year, the auditor feels that the return made is not an accurate one, he must go back six years and check each return made during that time, if the return is found to be false, he must levy a penalty of 50 per cent for each of the six years.

The bill also provides that one half of the personal taxes be paid on the day the return is made. When a taxpayer presents his return at the office of the auidtor on the first of the year, the amount of his annual taxes are figured at once and he pays 50 per cent of the amount before leaving the office.

The new law would also abolish the present personal tax law and would establish in its place, two new taxes—a tax on tangible personal property and a tax on intangible property, such as money and securities. It would also change the disposition of this money. Instead of being proportioned between the state, county, townships, municipalities, school districts, school libraries, county park districts and township park districts as in the past the money from the tangible property would be divided between the state, county, townships, municipalities and school districts and the intangible between the state, municipalities, school districts, school libraries, county and township parks, the county and township to receive none from the intangible property.

No Extension

Settlement days are Feb. 15 and Aug. 10 for real estate and May 10 and Nov. 10 for personal and classified taxes. The law would also repeal the authority of the county commissioners to extend collection dates, the tax commission, however, would have the right, but only in cases of emergency.

Whether the new law would yield the $27,000,000 annually from the intangibles, is a question with county auditors. The amount which was fixed by the special legislative committee which drafted the bill, is based on the assumption that the millions of dollars which escaped taxation under the old rule, will be brought out under the new bill.

The new rates are: five per cent of the income on investments; two mills on bank deposits and capital; five mills on capital employed by dealers in intangibles; five mills on the capital and surplus of domestic insurance companies; three mills on money, credits and all other taxable intangibles.

GRANGE MEMORIAL SERVICE PLANNED

County Program To Be Presented June 21 at Claridon School Building.

Plans were completed today for the county memorial service to be held June 21 at the Claridon school building last night when members of United Grange No. 1904 met for a father-son banquet at the school building. A program and business session completed the session.

Announcement was made of the declamatory contest for contestants in the county finals to be held June 25 at the school building. The county contest will be held July 11 at the meeting of Pomona grange. During the business session Fred Lusch, legislative agent, gave a talk on the tax situation, and announcement was made of the meeting of the grange reporters with representatives of The Star to be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at The Star office.

A combined program was presented in observance of Father's day and Flag day, under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Epley, a lecturer.

A song by the assembly was followed by a reading, "Father's Day" by Miss Bertha Showers and a cello solo by Miss Esther Haley, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Grace Haley. Miss Clara May Frayer gave a recitation, "Our Flag," and a vocal duet, "When the Organ Played at Twilight" was contributed by Misses Irma and Lucille Ruth accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Grace Haley. A recitation by Dorothy George and a song by the meeting closed the program.

Three new members were enrolled at the meeting of the juvenile grange. The program included recitations by Clara Mae Frayer and Dorothy George.

It is almost certain that the elderly man in knickers has a tidy bank account.

The Family Doctor.

The familiar picture of the family doctor depicts a bearded practitioner hastening in a mud-spattered buggy to a lonely farmhouse to start a night of bedside vigilance.

The modern family doctor is almost a stranger to that sort of thing, but the picture is permissable because it is nutured by kindly feeling. "Doc" is a well-loved figure, draw him as you will. The service he performs is the same, whether he uses automobiles and an ether cone, of a horse and buggy and a chloroform sponge.

The American Medical association, meeting in Philadelphia, is committed to restoring the family physician to the preeminent position he once enjoyed as sole adviser to his patients. Though vastly more capable of giving service than he once was, it is true that the family doctor's prestige has been endangered seriously by an increasing number of specialists. Dr. E. Starr Judd, president of the association, decries this tendency toward too many specialists, insisting that the practice of medicine should be kept on a personal basis—the basis of the family doctor. It is reflected in his remarks to the association, incidentally, that his motive partakes somewhat of a desire to protect the public against pseudo-specialists who have not had sufficient training to qualify themselves. Many practitioners who are family doctors are poor specialists.

This is part and parcel of American social life, but a great problem that the medical profession alone can solve. The hundreds of opportunities that are open to young physicians who detect the advantages of becoming established family doctors testify to the case for that type of practice. Earaches, sore throats, measles, whooping cough, cuts, burns, broken arms and legs, sprains, fractures. Dozens of prevalent types of sickness—these are not work cut out for specialists, but for the family doctor.

If there ever was reason to believe that any profession held the solution to its own problems, there is reason to believe the medical profession ultimately will attain the proper balance between specializing and general practicing. It has shown a remarkable capacity for self-improvement.

Teasing Tennessee.

An attempt to repeal Tennessee's statute prohibiting the teaching of evolution in schools wholly or partly supported by state funds has failed. Subsequent attempts in future legislatures probably will fail also.

Tennessee's population is not progressive, which is not a discrediting statement, but merely the principal reason why the legislature may be expected to continue supporting the statute prohibiting the teaching of evolution in state-supported schools. The native intelligence of a population may be high, but its progressiveness may be low. The theory of evolution, with which thousands of Tennessee residents are totally unfamiliar, is a new theory from the Tennessee viewpoint. Naturally, it goes begging for advocates.

The quickness and sharpness of the criticism that has been directed at Tennessee are as unfair as bitter criticism of a retarded child. Particularly when such criticism carries a state flavor is it unfair, for what state can point to its own statutes proclaiming them free from cramping restrictions and outmoded conception? Tennessee is a victim of the publicity of the Scopes trial, which drew international attention to it. "I'm getting tired of having people of other states refer to Tennessee as the state with the monkey statute," one of the legislative minority voting to repeal the law declared. And another said: "It has done more to injure the good name of the state and more to indict the intelligence of Tennessee than any bill that was ever passed."

These gentlemen exaggerate their state's burden by imagining that other states have the right to criticize Tennessee. On the opposite, if a number of other states were to face a similar ordeal they might come off a great deal worse than Tennessee has. When the time comes for that state to repeal its statute prohibiting the teaching of evolution it will be done, and the teapot tempest will have been made to appear inconsequential.

Approaching the End.

The national commission on law observance and enforcement, popularly designated as the Wickersham commission, will reach the end of its existence June 30. As the most important of President Hoover's commissions, the termination of its work is an important landmark in the Hoover administration.

To date, the commission has issued four reports. Eleven others are expected to be published before June 30, or after that date. For this work the commission spent half a million dollars for 200 trained investigators, transportation expenses and printing. Without voluntary contributions of time and service, half a million dollars would have been insufficient to finance the project.

The report of greatest interest, naturally, was that covering enforcement of prohibition, with a symposium of the views of the individual commissioners attached. The report, destined to appear equivocal by its substance and the openmindedness of the commissioners, is, at the same time, the commission's best piece of work—and its worst from the standpoint of public opinion. The American people never will live down its disappointment at not being informed with a direct statement whether prohibition can really be enforced.

The fourth report, the latest, deals with prosecution of criminals, and has caused considerable discussion because it criticizes the influence of politics in the appointment of district attorneys. The senate, which has the plum to grant, has taken high offense, though its wrath can not well be voiced, for obvious reasons.

The commission's first report, also dealing with prohibition, recommended transferring the prohibition bureau to the justice department, which has been done with satisfactory results. The third report was on statistics of crime. Among other subjects to be covered by forthcoming reports are federal deportation laws, juvenile delinquency, federal courts, crime and the foreign born, causes of crime, cost of crime, lawlessness in law enforcement, criminal court procedure, police administration, probation and parole, and the commission's own financial account.

The Wickersham commission has earned the gratitude of the nation, although the nation may not be sufficiently gracious to admit it. Its members served without pay, they gave liberally of their ability and time, and they presented an encyclopedic collection of facts that will be of great value for years to come.

President Hoover's administration has been ennobled by the service of so distinguished a group of American citizens.

A Word in Passing.

It's not considered proper to yearn for the good old days, nor to wonder what the young folks are coming to. Rather, one is expected to stand up and tell the world forcefully that there is no age like the present, that the young people of today outstrip those of past generations, and that anybody who thinks otherwise is just a millstone hung on the neck of progress.

Despite all that, an announcement in a theatrical publication urges old-timers and their sympathizers to look backward and sigh—perhaps even to wonder if modern youngsters really will be prepared to face all of life's battles.

During the theatrical season just closing, there was not a single "Tom show" on the road, the announcement says. Though the same announcement has been made previously, it seems conclusive this time. The last "Tom show" known to give a performance broke up over in Canton a short time before Christmas, and was in no condition to warrant its being honored with the phrase "on the road."

How about it? Any one who has stood wide-eyed before a brilliant poster colorfully proclaiming the wonders of Eva's ascent into heaven, Uncle Tom's devotion to his little mistress, Eliza's leaping from papered soap box to soap box with yawning mastiffs pursuing her, and not least, that flower of showmanship, the double Topsy of doubly mysterious origin, must sigh for modern young ones.

Just think! No more parades down Main street at the noon hour with school lads hurrying to the "opera-house" door to grasp a banner. No lovely little Eva riding in a phaeton, no sour-note band—all gone to the limbo of outstanding childhood events of a byegone day.

But it's not considered proper to worry about what the younger generations are missing. They're the snappiest, go-getting crowd in the history of the world. Why worry about a down-at-the-heels "Tom show" anyway with Eugene O'Neill preparing a three-night fifteen-act play?

An Eye for Mexican Relations.

The trial of two Oklahoma deputy sheriffs on murder charges made for the killing of two Mexican college students must be conducted with an eye for Mexican relations. The United States has another international incident on its hands.

Dispatches from Mexico City indicate Mexico will file indemnity claims for the affair, and unless evidence can be produced to prove the deputies acted in self-defense this country will be obliged to admit responsibility. This has been the practice since President Harrison's administration, when it was urged by the president and federal responsibility for attacks on aliens within states be officially recognized. Previously, responsibility had been denied.

International law holds a nation responsible for reasonable protection to aliens, as long as they respect the law. In instances where aliens come to harm, the first step is to determine the guilt, because the nation's responsibility only becomes greater if the perpetrators are not brought to justice.

The United States probably will deem it necessary to pay an indemnity to Mexico to assure the preservation of satisfactory relations if guilt is placed on the deputies. In that event, congress would be called upon to make an an appropriation. The supposition of the event affords a good example of the intimate relation of the individual to the national government. If it turns out, as it seems probable it will, that the two deputy sheriffs were too ready with their guns, the taxpayer will have another provocative topic for speculation, and another item of expense will be entered in the folly column.

OUR PROSECUTING OFFICERS.

The Wickersham committee made a statement, self-evidently true, when it said that "treating the office of—United States—district attorney as a reward for political activity is a serious menace to the enforcement of law." The sins of members of the senate along that line are one of the things which are fast making the body a liability to the nation rather than an asset. The efforts of certain senators to throw up a smoke screen by trying to divert attention to President Hoover in connection with the question of appointments does not modify that fact in the least. Everybody knows that the power of ratification gives the senate the whip hand, and everybody knows how the senate uses its power.

But when Mr. Wickersham and his associates contend that the prosecuting officers of the country, federal, state and county, are more responsible for the growth of crime than is the failure of juries to convict, they take up a point open to debate.

In arriving at a conclusion regarding the relative remissness of prosecutors and jurors, many matters beside a statistical record should be considered, among them, the handicaps that the juries which the Wickersham committee excuses, sometimes impose on a prosecutor.

Undoubtedly there are many prosecuting attorneys in the country who are far from being ideal officials, and some who probably are distinctly bad officials, but we do not believe that as a class they should be singled out and held up as sinners above all other officeholders and law enforcement agencies. In order to function at all effectively, a large part of them are obliged to combat a system of court procedure which is full of absurd technicalities, and which often seems to be especially designed to obstruct even-handed justice. In state, county and local courts, they are likely to find themselves in contact with political judges who try their cases with a weather eye on the next election; and are forced to struggle along with jurymen who are next to impossible ethically or mentally.

The very volume of the work thrown at a prosecutor in these days often makes first-class work impossible, and under conditions frequently prevalent, he simply must pick and choose in handling cases, sometimes using the power of nolle prosequi to the point of usurpation of judicial or legislative function, because he is acting under circumstances beyond his control.

Worse still, prosecuting officers in thousands of cases are obliged to work, practically abandoned, where they are not actually thwarted, by the public they try to serve.

This last condition is the foundation of the worst handicapping difficulties of the prosecutors and of most of the troubles for which the Wickersham committee is trying to find a remedy. If it could be changed, other troubles would have a tendency to right themselves to a large extent.

The political activities of senators, the political mindedness of judges, the tortuousness of legal procedure, the slipshodness of police officers, and incompetencies and sometimes dishonesties of juries could all be neutralized sufficiently for practical purposes, and prosecutors would have no excuse for inefficiency or for joining the procession of unfaithfuls, were it not for the fact that the people of the United States have practically abandoned the ship of good government, and to the extent of several millions have, in greater or lesser degree, themselves become lawbreakers.

We do not mean that there are millions of felons or virulent wrongdoers in America. But every person who engages in any sort of a "racket," every person who patronizes a bootlegger, every person who breaks the traffic regulations the moment he believes himself unwatched, every person who is indifferent to the character of elected officials or is indifferent to the conduct of officials after they are elected, more or less becomes an accessory before and after the fact, when justice goes wrong.

Crime is more prevalent and more impudent in the United States than in any other civilized land, largely because people tolerate it, where they do not connive, and in effect uphold it against the agencies of law by practically leaving those agencies naked and bare to its tender mercies.—Detroit Free Press.

"Jake," or Ginger Paralysis.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

The United States public health service announces that cases of Jamaica ginger paralysis are still present in this country. This is no laughing matter. This paralysis is indeed a serious condition, and I want to warn all my readers to guard against its dangers.

Some time ago various vague ailments of a serious nature were traced to the use of Jamaica ginger. At first it was believed to be due to impure ginger, but later it was attributed to a harmful substitute for ginger.

In the manufacture of certain brands of so-called Jamaica ginger extracts, it has been found that certain substitutes were used. The resulting product is similar in composition to the chemicals used in the manufacture of varnishes shellacs and like preparations.

It is not astounding that the consumption of such a vile concoction would produce paralysis of the body. Official action has been taken to prevent this evil practice. Vendors of such "ginger" extracts are being prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Unfortunately, irresponsible makers of so-called ginger extracts have flooded the market with the product. Though vigorous steps have been taken against a recurrence of this peril, there still remains a great danger to the public, because the substance is still on the market, hidden away in obscure drug establishments.

Make sure you get real Jamaica ginger extract, put up by reliable firms and sold by reputable druggists. This menace to the public welfare is now undergoing careful study by the United States public health service. The watchful eye of this great service is turned upon this evil. From time to time, official statements in reference to the matter will be issued by the United States government.

Encke's Sky Vagrant.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Comets, those strange vagrants of the sky, with a brilliant head and tails covering incredibly vast volumes of space are among the most interesting of the heavenly bodies to the astronomer. Many hundreds of comets are known to exist, and records have been discovered of some 400 which appeared before the invention of the telescope.

The orbits of about three-fourths of all comets for which paths have been studied show up to be, very nearly or actually, parabolic. Any student of analytic geometry knows that the parabola is a limiting case between the ellipse and the hyperbola. No comet is known to have a specifically hyperbolic orbit. So it appears likely that all cometary orbits are either parabolic, or more probably still elliptic, vastly elongated, with periods of many centuries or even millenniums.

One of the most interesting of these celestial vagrants, known as Encke's comet, paid a flying visit to the earth last month. It was observed in 1818 by Pons of Marseilles, and the astronomer devoted himself to a careful study of it from the observations which had been made. He was enabled to identify it with a comet first discovered in 1786, one observed by Caroline Herschel in 1795, and one which had been observed by Pons himself in 1805. Encke found that its period was about three years and 110 days, with slight variations. On the basis of this knowledge, Encke predicted that it would appear about May 24, 1822. And sure enough it was discovered near the spot predicted.

Encke's comet is not only important in itself, but also because of its relation to other heavenly bodies. Indeed, it furnished the means for computing the mass of the planet, Mercury. The comet was slowed up by Mercury, although to only a very slight extent. It happened to cross the orbit of Mercury, when Mercury was, comparatively speaking, not very far away. The amount by which the comet was delayed enabled astronomers to compute the pull of Mercury. From the amount of this pull it was possible to compute the mass of Mercury. It has been computed by De Sitter that the mass of Mercury is only about one twenty-fourth that of the earth, the calculation being accurate to within about twenty-five per cent.

There is one feature of Encke's comet which lends it an air of mystery and makes it an object of unusual interest to astronomers. Both Encke and Olbers assumed, because the comet returned sooner than it ought, that it had to pass through a resisting medium of extreme rarity, whose effect would be slightly to diminish the centrifugal force, and so to lessen the distance from the sun, thus of course increasing the velocity. So far, astronomers have not been able to find any definite observational proof of Encke's assumption. Yet the slight retardation is known to exist.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

A Lost Industry.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Possibly one could still find in the hilly portions of southern Ohio a wagon rack such as the bark cutters of the early days in this state used to haul their product to market, but the industry, once of considerable importance, is gone now. For a time the mark was a by-product in the cutting of oak trees for the various timber uses, the bark being stripped from the logs before they were sent to the mill, but earlier the chestnut oak was sought out on the hilltops and cut for its bark, the trunks being allowed to lie where they fell.

The chief operatives were of a vagrant class, and sought the unfenced rough country, careless usually as to whether it was privately owned or not. The timber being practically valueless, the owners were not greatly concerned. The "barker" constructed his cabin high up in some ravine, and took advantage of snows in winter, to "sled" his bark down to the usable wagon road. There his connection with the trade ended.

The "barker" got from $1.50 to $2.50 a cord from the wagoner, who was really a dealer, and getting the bark down to navigable water would often receive as much as six dollars a cord from the flat-boatmen, who by delivering the bark to tanneries at Cincinnati or other cities on the river could readily get as much as $10 or $11 a cord for it.

The business is no longer carried on, for two principal reasons: first, most of the timber has been cut away, and such as remains is too valuable to be sacrificed for its bark value, even if the old-time demand remained and the prices of former days were still paid by tanners.

But the market for tan bark has been destroyed by the discovery of other sources of tannin, and other substances that will convert raw hides into leather. Not only has the industry found substitutes for the tannin of the oak in tanning, but substances several times as powerful as tannin, so it shortens the process. Many insist that the leather so produced is not as good as that of the old oak bark process, but it suits the shoe manufacturers.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, June 12—Perhaps the most ardent and expert fisherman in congress is gray-haired, solemn, seventy-year-old Will Wood, of Indiana, an eight-termer in the house and chairman of the powerful appropriations committee.

Happily, a week-end or so ago, Wood got out his fishing equipment, packed his hip boots. He had been invited by the President to be his guest at Rapidan, try his luck at trout fishing and discuss means of bringing about economy in government expenditures.

Bright and early Wood was in the Rapidan. Thirteen trout struck his hook and were pulled in. Four more wiggled off his hook and got away.

Not far away the President fished. Twelve trout was the best he could do.

Back in Washington the following Monday the news leaked out that the chairman of the house appropriations committee had caught more fish than the President. Newspapermen asked him about it.

"Well," said Wood, one of the strongest administration supporters in the house, "I guess I fished longer than the President."

• • •

Wood's enthusiasm for fishing and his pride in his ability along this line is generally known on the hill. Many remember when he brought all the way from Florida the head of a big fish he had caught.

A shark, he said, took away the body of his catch after it was hooked, and his purpose in bringing the head along was to prove that he really did catch it.

Byrns, of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the appropriations committee and Wood's great and good friend, was the skeptic the Indianan probably had in mind. Byrns, although admitting his friend's prowess as a fisherman, delights in "kidding" him about it.

One of Byrns' favorite stories concerns the time that Wood inadvertently exceeded the limit while the two were visiting in Yellowstone park and the accompanying difficulties.

• • •

Known as one of the most indefatigable workers in congress, Wood relies on brief fishing excursions for his almost sole recreation. Often he slips away from his office on Saturday afternoons to spend a few hours at some nearby stream.

He is enthusiastic about flying. On a recent trip to Panama he traveled a great deal by air, returned to the capital and told of his experiences with keen enthusiasm.

A widower, he makes his home in Washington at a small hotel only a few yards from his office. He makes appointments as early as 7:30 o'clock in the morning. Frequently he is in his office before that hour.

His dry wit, stern appearance and solemn expression have made him one of the most familiar figures on Capitol hill.

MINE CLOSES

200 Added to Strike Ranks in Jefferson County.

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 12—The Bradley mine No. 1 of the United States Coal company ceased working today when its crew of 100 miners walked out, joining the general strike in Jefferson and Belmont counties.

More than 100 strikers moved on the mine last night and today eight automobile loads of pickets had been placed around the properties.

Sheriff W. J. Yost of Jefferson county said an attempt was made by two members of the United Mine Workers of America to have the strikers break off their affiliation with the national miners union, the director of the strike, but failed.

Family, Without Stove, Lives on Raw Food

THE pathetic story of a mother struggling to keep together her family of five small children while anticipating an early visit from the stork, was told by the local Red Cross today in an appeal for some sort of a cooking stove for the family.

With no means of cooking, the mother and her children have been living altogether on raw food, the Red Cross nurse said. Having no money with which to pay for gas, the appeal is for either an oil stove or one in which coal or wood can be burned. Anyone having such a stove and wishing to help this family is asked to call the Red Cross.

association, which is providing for the needs of the crowd. Four ice cream and soft drink stands near the memorial, probably on the west side of Delaware avenue, will be operated by the association, which also is providing a lunch stand near the memorial.

One hundred boys and girls will go through the crowd offering souvenir programs and other souvenirs for sale. Several Y. M. C. A. groups and Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves are in charge of the sale of souvenirs.

Five booths at the memorial grounds and one uptown also will offer souvenirs for sale.

Souvenir sales are progressing satisfactorily, with nearly 2,000 programs sold locally. Headquarters for their sale has been established in rooms east of the Montgomery Ward & Co. building on west Center street. The Uhler-Phillips Co. also has them on sale.

Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson of Columbus today assigned 525 National guardsmen under Brigadier General Harold M. Bush, also of Columbus, to service at the dedication, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Colonel Gilson D. Light of Toledo was appointed executive officer for the guard companies during the day. Companies ordered for duty here are from Marion, Marysville, Delaware, Ashland, St. Marys, Kenton, Lima, Galion and Mansfield.

The federal army contingent will consist of two companies of infantry from Fort Hayes, Columbus, and the Fort Hayes band.

ESCAPES INJURY IN CRASH OF AUTOGIRO

Craft of Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam Falls on Take-Off in Texas.

By The Associated Press

ABILENE, Tex., June 12—Miss Amelia Earhart Putnam escaped injury today when her autogiro crashed from an altitude of about thirty feet as she was taking off from the airport here to resume her journey southward from California. The plane was damaged considerably.

The autogiro failed to attain sufficient momentum on the take-off and crashed amid parked automobiles in a fence-off space near the hangar of the Abilene airport.

Although several automobiles were damaged, it was reported that no one in the crowd was injured. Miss Earhart climbed out of the plane and walked a short distance away.

RAILROADS UNITE TO ASK RATE INCREASE

Carriers Band Together in Effort To Obtain Boost for Freight.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 12—Railroads of the nation stood united today behind a decision to petition the interstate commerce commission for a general increase in freight rates of 15 per cent.

Representatives of eastern, western and southern groups of roads who participated in the agreement reached yesterday said the increase was designed to offset some of the reductions in freight tariffs made since 1921 and would bring an estimated increase in revenue of 10 per cent, or about $400,000,000.

The petition was described as an emergency measure to meet a slump in rail revenue which has resulted in earnings falling to the lowest level in a decade.

The railroads hope to have their petition on file within a week and hope that it will be treated as an emergency measure by the commission so that the increased rates may go into effect within three months.

Although the petition will be for a general increase, the roads do not intend, representatives said, to increase all rates by that amount.

TERMS BOOSTED FOR DRY LAW VIOLATORS

Woodcock Cites Figures He Says Shows Major Offenders Are Being Caught.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 12 — Prohibition Director Woodcock said today an increase in the average jail sentence given dry law offenders during May showed major violators were being reached by federal agents.

Statistics issued by the prohibition bureau showed that last month the average sentence was 243.5 days, an increase of 34 days over April. In the eleven months since prohibition enforcement was transferred to the justice department, the average jail sentence was 222.6 days.

Fines meted out in May decreased $34 under the preceding month to $154 against an average of $151.28 for the 11 months period.

"The steadily rising average jail sentence and the decreasing fines decreed by the courts," Woodcock said, "indicates we are reaching the more important and serious cases. The trend has been noticeable since last July."

Use of the padlock as an enforcement weapon was more widespread in May.

Hope Abandoned for 18 Men Entombed in Sub

By International News Service

LONDON, June 12—The British admiralty expressed the belief today that the 18 men entombed at the bottom of the Yellow Sea were dead in the submarine Poseidon although efforts to raise the sunken craft will be continued.

It was believed that the American submarine salvager Pigeon, dispatched to the scene by the United States government, can do nothing beyond supplementing the efforts of the half dozen British war vessels at the scene of the wreck.

THE OHIO METEOR that knocked down telegraph poles and trees and broke windows in houses had not been dug up yesterday. Some wondered why it did not set fire to houses nearby, but need not wonder.

The meteor becomes red hot on the outside when it first strikes our atmosphere. But as it falls through miles of the thin upper air and strikes the intensely cold stratosphere, more than a hundred degress below zero, it cools off.

In other words, a meteorite, striking the earth after coming through the atmosphere, is like a red hot bolt falling into the ocean.

AMENDED AUTO TAX BILL PASSED

House Takes Favorable Vote; Conference with Senate Likely.

COLUMBUS, O., June 12—The house of representatives Thursday by a vote of 72 to 46 approved an increase in automobile license tag fees from the present $4-to-$10 scale to a new scale of $7 to $35, tabled the Sheppard general sales tax bill, and then was declared adjourned until Monday as a fight was begun to bring the Roberts utilities excise tax bill on the house floor.

Parliamentary tactics were used to stave off an open expression on the utilities bill and the house quit in a great hub bub as the Democratic floor leader and several of the members favoring an increase in utilities taxes protested the procedure.

The automobile license bill, which also removes motor vehicles from the property tax duplicate, is the second bill in the special taxation committee's program to pass the house.

After voting down a motion to make the tax on the lowest horsepower class of pleasure cars $6 instead of $7 as proposed in the bill, the house in amending it voted to put a $25 fee on cars of 32 to 36 horsepower and a $35 fee on cars of 36 horsepower and more. The bill as passed by the senate made these latter fees $20 and $25, respectively. Due to changes made in the senate, it is likely that the bill will have to be taken up in conference before final enactment.

A second important amendment to the bill changed it to provide that persons buying the license tags prior to April 1 in each year shall pay the full fee, those buying them between April 1 and July 1 shall pay three-fourths of the full annual fee, those buying them between July 1 and Oct. 1 shall pay one-half the fee, and those buying them after Oct. 1 shall pay one-fourth the fee.

WITNESS WILL FACE CROSS EXAMINATION

Defense To Question Defendant's Former Secretary in Bender Trial.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 12—Miss Jesse E. Coates, star witness for the state in the embezzlment and perjury trial of George H. Bender, was due for cross-examination today on her testimony that the Republican leader issued 31 checks totaling $12,210 payable to himself or cash from the funds of the Constitutional Law Enforcement League of Ohio.

Bender is alleged to have embezzled $22,750 from the league, which he headed in the successful fight against the Marshal justice of the peace bill three years ago.

Miss Coates, Bender's fromer secretary, testified that his statement of expenditures to the secretary of state did not correspond to items listed in what the state said was a copy of his cash book. The woman testified the statement of expenditures omitted among other things payments of $15,000 to Harry Kleinman, a solicitor of funds for the league and $1,000 for "newspaper pay roll."

Defense attorneys said in the opening statements that they would show Miss Coates had failed to make the statement of expenditures as requested by Bender and that on the last day for filing the secretary "had been drinking." Errors might have crept into the statement, but not because of corruption, the defense contended.

NEW REMEDY FOR POISONING FOUND

Physicians Report Operation That Cures Mercury Cases Once Fatal.

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12—Discovery of an operation somewhat resembling appendicitis that cures some hitherto fatal cases of bichloride of mercury poisoning was described to the American Medical association today.

The operation is called cecostomy, and enables physicians to wash the poison out of one of the vital parts of the body. It was reported by Samuel Berger, M. D., and his associates, H. S. Applebaum, M. D., and A. M. Young, M. D. of the department of medicine and pathology of Mt. Sinai hospital, Cleveland.

They studied 163 cases of bichloride of mercury poisoning seeking to learn exactly how the internal organs are harmed or destroyed. They found that a large majority of those who lived beyond the first 24 hours after swallowing the bichloride, death was due to the gangrenous condition of the lower intestine.

They therefore devised an operation to head off the poison before it reached this position.

Dr. Berger emphasized that the operation was successful only when performed within a few hours after the poison had been swallowed. Those upon whom it was performed after two days or more all died.

MARION SHARES IN SALE OF AUTO TAGS

City's Portion of Income for May Is $480, Report Shows.

Marion city gets a $480.28 cut in the proceeds from sale of automobile license plates in the city and county during May, the monthly report covering the distribution of the funds in the office of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas shows.

One hundred and sixty-six of the 230 sets of license plates sold in the county last month went to automobiles owned in Marion, the report shows.

The state gets the biggest share of the licence proceeds, receiving $640.95, or half of the county total. Four Marion county villages share in the distribution. Caledonia receives $30.97, Green Camp, $7, La-Rue $2, and Prospect, $16.97. Forty-eight sets of plates were sold in the rural districts, resulting in $113.73 for the county.

Plates issued in April were for 187 passenger cars, 19 trucks, two commercial passenger cars, one motor cycle, and 21 trailers.

All money received from the sale of license plates is used exclusively for road and street maintenance and repair.

CHAPTER 11

Career or Marriage?

THE rivalry between Pierre and Bruce affected each differently. When Ann chose Pierre, Bruce would be angry. When she favored Bruce Pierre would make merry at his defeat. When she seemed to prefer some other lad, Pierre would gesture to console Bruce, much to the latter boy's disgust. Ann laughingly said she loved them all.

Ann's father, Martin Bevis, and Old Tony explains, "went to school together. When Martin graduated from the academy—the year Tony went away to become an actor—he got a position as bookkeeper in the First National Bank. Forty years later he is still a bookkeeper in the First National Bank. And that," the old actor declares, "is a complete characterization of Martin Bevis."

Mrs. Bevis took care of her husband until little Ann was 13. Then she passed to her well earned rest and the responsibility of taking care of Martin fell upon his daughter. She was a most lovable girl, with a sweet Madonna-like face and that mother spirit which such girls have. Somehow she managed to attend the public schools and with her very real charm, she was a great favorite.

Bruce, his school days ended, accepted a position as clerk in the First National Bank. Pierre, when he finished school, accepted a position at the soda fountain of the Owl Drug Store—which his mother's father had once owned.

"You see, Father Tony," Pierre explained, "that soda fountain is the best place in Orchard Hill for me to study character. It is only for two years—then I'll have the money which mother left for me and I'll beat it to New York and the America Academy of Dramatic Art."

"What does Ann think about it?" Old Tony asked gently.

Pierre moved uneasily. "Ann doesn't want me to be a soda jerk. She wants me to go into something with a future—some sort of a place like Bruce has in the bank, you know. She says then I might change my mind about the stage. I guess she is right, in a way. Everybody will think I am not amounting to much, but you and mother and I know what it is all about. Ann will understand some day. Besides," he added without a trace of ill feeling but with an odd wistful note in his voice, "Bruce is the Orchard Hill star of our family."

After a long silence, Pierre spoke slowly: "I don't believe that a young actor just at the beginning of his career has any right to marry; do you, Father Tony?"

Antonio answered with care, "It certainly would be hazardous for the lady, and a terrible handicap to the young actor. It would be almost a miracle, I think, if such a marriage did not end disastrously."

Pierre nodded reluctant agreement. Then he tried to speak in a matter-of-fact tone: "Of course, it would be an impossible thing for a decent fellow to do. If a man really loves a girl, he is bound to think of what her future would be if she were to marry him.

"If marrying the girl means more to him than his career, he should give up his career. With me—well, I simply couldn't give up the theater."

We can imagine how vividly the boy's words brought back to Antonio memories of Harriet Noel and that scene when she had chosen between her love and her art.

Presently Pierre said wistfully, "Do you know, Father Tony, I sometimes wish that I was more what people call practical—that I cared more for business and that sort of thing? If I was more like Bruce now—Bruce will have no troubles about marrying and having a family and all that. He won't need to bother about marriage interfering with his career. Good old Bruce—he's a lucky dog, isn't he?"

Pierre had been working at the soda fountain nearly a year when Bruce and Ann married and began their life together in the Bevis home where Ann had kept house for her father since her mother's death. Her father was to live with them. That same year, the old couple with whom Pierre lived moved to Cleveland and Pierre went to board with the Careys.

Old Tony says, "It was Ann's idea. The girl felt that Pierre was so like a brother to Bruce that it was their duty to look after him."

It was about three months before Pierre's twentieth birthday when Pierre first told Tony that Bruce had been offered at ground-floor prices a substantial interest in a Nevada gold mine, certain to develop into one of the richest ever known.

"It's a darned shame that Bruce can't grab this chance to make real money," said Pierre. "Martin Bevis says the mine is certain to produce millions and that such a chance may never come to Bruce again. It would mean a lot to Ann if Bruce could get into something big. If he sticks in that dinky First National he'll never get anywhere."

"Who is this benevolent person who wants to sell Bruce a gold mine in Nevada?" Antonio asked dryly.

"Martin didn't mention his name," returned Pierre; "just said that he was an old friend who wanted to let Bruce in on a good thing. Martin says the man is all right and that the investment is certain to bring enormous returns. Martin told me about some of the biggest financiers in the country who got their first start by just such a chance as this. What do you think about it, Father Tony?"

"What do I think about what, Pierre?"

"Why, this proposition that I've been telling you about — this Nevada gold mine."

"I don't know anything about it, Pierre—do you?"

"I know what Bruce and Martin Bevis tell me."

"Well, why doesn't Bruce invest if he and Martin think his mine is such a good thing?"

"Bruce hasn't the money."

"Oh, I see! Bruce and Martin want you to put the money your mother left for your dramatic schooling into this mining scheme. Is that it?"

Pierre's voice was troubled as he answered: "Bruce says he can more than double my money for me in a year, and that it will give him the start he needs. I—I'd like to help Bruce — and Ann. I'm sure mother would want me to — don't you think so, Father Tony?"

Before Her Baby Came

"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I came to womanhood. I was so nervous that I couldn't rest at night. After I took your Compound I felt much better. Then before my baby was born I took the Compound again. I felt strong through [illegible]"

When the old actor recalls this incident his faded blue eyes flash with righteous indignation. "You can imagine," he says, "what I advised Harriet's son to do with the little inheritance which, as the executor, I would turn over to him on his twentieth birthday.

"And you can imagine what I said to Bruce and that old fool, Martin Bevis, for trying to rush a boy like Pierre into their money-making schemes, and like as not ruining his whole life. It was the most selfish and cruel proposition that could be conceived! Ann was as indignant as I and put her foot down hard, forbidding her father and Bruce ever to mention the scheme again."

But while the matter was apparently settled and Pierre went joyously ahead with his plans for entering the New York school, Pierre's guardian worried over what might happen to defeat Pierre's purpose to fulfill his mother's dreams and to realize his own dearest ambitions.

"I could not believe that Bruce would cease his efforts to persuade Pierre to turn his school money over to him, when he would be free to do with his inheritance as he chose," the old actor says.

"I remembered how from infancy Harriet's son had yielded to the older boy's will. I knew so well Pierre's generous, impulsive nature.

"Harriet's presence in those days was very real. I could almost see her standing in the wings."

In short, Antonio was too wise not to realize that his beloved Pierre was approaching a very real crisis in his life. And the old actor's years of unfaltering love for Harriet Noel and his unfailing affection for her son made the approaching situation no less a crisis in the life of Antonio Latour, himself.

To Be Continued.

[illegible] thought if her and [illegible] her leader it might [illegible] frontier ideas. A [illegible] very hefty. I was [illegible] milked and the bunch were waiting for me when I went in the house my mother told me that there was a hole under the house somewhere because she had found out that the cat was climbing up and coming in through a hole in the soiled linen closet and for me to go and take a look at it and see if I could fix it after a while, so while she was getting breakfast I went in there and put on the light and stooped down and opened up the little door and looked in the closet and almost turned a back flip, for there was a big possum laying on the dirty clothes, and it grinned at me like a possum does, and I had to grab my mouth in both hands to keep it from hollering. I stuffed the dirty clothes in the hole the possum came in at and closed the door again and went out and left it there while I thunk what I could do with it.

When we had all fed our faces and my father and unkle had went to work my mother said: "Thomas Aristides, didn't I tell you to see if you could fix the linen closet?" I said, "Yeasum, I will when I get back from the pasture." My aht who is always trying to get me in bad said, "For goodness sake. A boy would drive me crazy! I bet I can fix that myself!" And she hustled into the bathroom, and I was just making a sneak when my ant screamed so loud it shook the house, and my mother ran in there and I followed her, and the door has got a spring on it and had shut, and my ant sot on the floor and she just pointed, she couldn't speak; so my mother opened the door, and then she backed up and sot in my ant's lap. I hollered: "Why, it's a possum!" and I took it by the tail and carried it out. My mother thought at first I had put it there, but she finely believed I didn't. I am glad she didn't ast me if I knowed it was there; for I am not a liar.

It is my possum but I let the hands take turns carrying it on the way to the pasture. When we'd lay it down and the dogs would sniff at it it would play dead. Everybody in the bunch but Maggie and Pootie, and Teunies wished they were him. I certainly was proud. We played with it all day, and I hooked it in the food box when I had to go in to go to bed, and [illegible] a few pieces of bread and [illegible] in with it. Maybe I [illegible] of my own, I [illegible] good luck.

Herewith is the solution to yesterday's Puzzle.

"Heart of a Wife"

—BY ADELE GARRISON—

Lillian Answers the Veritzen Telegram.

AT Lillian's proposal that I should spend the night in dictating "conversation" for the unfinished part of the play that Philip Veritzen was considering, I looked at her in so bewildered a fashion that she laughed aloud.

"You look exactly like a rabbit caught in a bramble with a dog getting nearer every jump."

"I feel as if he had reached me," I retorted.

"Aha!" Lillian gloated. "Getting back a little of the well-known spirit. That's better. Now this isn't half as terrifying as it appears. You know a lot of words," she grinned engagingly. "Just 'wind your mouth up' and let it go."

"But work done like that won't be worth anything," I protested. "Mr Veritzen will be so disgusted, — and justifiably when he sees it, that he will say he doesn't want the play."

Simon Legree's Lash

"What do you mean, work done like that?" she countered, distinct irritation in her tone. "Do you think I mean revised work? I mean the first draft, which always ought to be served hot off the griddle, and if you're anything like me, you'll do your very best work only when Simon Legree's lash is curled over your shrinking back, and you have about nine and one-half minutes to go. Now don't waste any more of my time or yours. I'm going to make you a great playwright in spite of yourself. You haul out the first two acts of your play and 'go into the silence' with 'em until dinner. You'll just about have time to read 'em before then. Go out on this little side veranda up here and Katherine and I will see that no one disturbs you. Then after dinner, you'll be all primed to go on from there. Don't eat too many of the bottle fish the youngsters caught. I know fish are brain food, but too big a dinner will make you sleepy, and you want to be wide awake tonight. Beat it now, while I fix up an answer to this telegram and get it off. It will be short as I'll phone it and have it rushed."

In Lillian's Hands

"What are you going to say?" I asked worriedly.

"I ought not to tell you," she said with a grin, "but seeing that your name is going to be signed to it, perhaps I'd better.

"'Can finish play in three weeks. Rough draft of third act nearly completed. Fourth act planned but not yet touched. Margaret Graham. Isn't that nifty?"

She was so obviously pleased with herself and her devotion to my interests was so unselfish that I made a tremendous effort to subdue the actual fright which had taken possession of me.

"I'm in your hands," I said, trying to smile. "If you think you can transfuse something of your own skill and spirit into a helpless worm of the dust, I'll do the best I can."

A Devoted Friend

"Spoken like a true, good little worm," she gibed. "Just so you don't squirm away from me when I impale you on the hook, that's all I ask. For oh! boy, there'll be some reeling and writhing and wriggling in coils this night. Where's a pencil and paper? I haven't your memory. I'll forget this little piece I composed for the telegraph operator before I get to the telephone."

I went to my desk and gave her the things she wished, and then unlocked the drawer into which I had put the first two acts of my play before going to the hospital for the birth of my little daughter. When I turned toward the door, she was standing, paper in hand, with her hand flung up in warning.

"Just a sec," she said in a low voice. "Don't let Dicky know about the session tonight. A Texas steer will have nothing on him in kicking capacity and he would be perfectly justified. You haven't any business staging such a stunt after what you've been through, but this means your whole future, and excitement and hard work never hurt anybody yet."

I knew that she was stating the creed which she had followed all her busy life, and there stirred in me the ambition to be worthy of the effort she was making for me. For I knew that no matter how long nor how ambitious my labors, this faithful, devoted friends would be at my side every minute of the time.

"I won't say anything," I said. "I probably shan't see him alone."

"Oh! yes you will," she said with a wide grin. "He's just waiting the opportunity to prostrate himself all over the carpet in contrition. But here's a thought. Does he know that you haven't done what this telegram says?"

"He doesn't know much about the play," I said, and Lillian gave a low whistle, then turned to the door, abruptly.

"Then it will be safe to telephone this," she said, and I knew that she had caught back a comment which might have hurt me.

Dicky Asks Forgiveness

With the manuscript of my first two acts in my hand, which I found was actually trembling with frightened excitement, I opened my door and walked toward the little veranda. I was just stepping through it when Dicky caught me round the waist and drew me into the window recess near it, completely sheltered from observation.

"Sweetheart! are you going to forgive your boy?" he asked.

KILLING SOLVED

Cleveland police declare Leon Wasilewski, 16, above, has confessed to the "sniper" killing of Miss Louise Gaudig, 17, of Johnstown, Pa., in Cleveland. The girl was believed to have been the victim of a fiend who fired from a passing automobile as she was returning from a neighborhood store to her aunt's home, accompanied by a cousin. Leon, however, police say, told them that he was firing at a tree and had hit the girl accidentally. Police arrested him in Chicago.

Theater News And Reviews

GARY COOPER IN "CITY STREETS"

"City Streets" at the Palace tonight has its exciting moments. Gary Cooper, Silvia Sidney and Paul Lukas with his gang of racketeers add color to the story.

Cooper is a Westerner, working at a carnival shooting gallery, who refuses to listen to his girl, Sylvia Sidney, and join the racketeers. Miss Sidney refuses to "squeal" about a murder she's wise to, and is railroaded to prison. Cooper is told the details, and joins up with the gang. His girl has misgivings after he joins the racketeers and tries everything in her power to get him away. There's plenty of scenes of Miss Sidney, Lukas and Wynne Gibson arguing together about Cooper. Miss Sidney is found with Lukas' dead body and is held for the murder. Cooper and the girl are "taken for a ride," but Cooper maneuvers the "ride" into a honeymoon trip." Short subjects complete the bill.

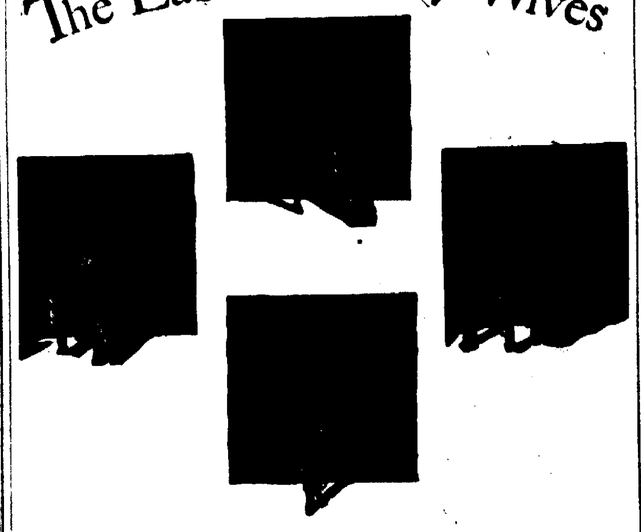
The Labor Costs of Wives



ELECTRIC current is in three out of every four American homes.

Why then, do women wield brooms and stroke fires? Why do they work with too little light? Why do they bend over old-fashioned tubs? Why do they run sewing machines by foot power, keep food in leaky ice-boxes, and swelter for lack of electric fans?

Why is the home backward electrically as compared with the factory?

Because factory costs mean success or failure; but there is no direct measure of the labor cost of a wife.

Suppose wives were in direct competition, like manufacturers. Suppose the labor costs of all homes were published; suppose the woman whose hours, and health, and good looks are being needlessly wasted could see her life charted against the life of the woman who has every electrical help?

How quickly the homes of America would begin to be really electrified!

The duty of the electrical industry is to repeat again and again that "any woman who does any task electricity can do is working for a few cents a day."

The goal is homes not meagerly lighted, but adequately lighted . . . . outlets not here and there, but everywhere . . . . not one or two electric appliances, but every one that can do a part of woman's work. Not three out of four homes electrically wired, but every home completely electrified.

POPULAR LEADER

Leo Reisman, director of the Park Casino orchestra, who have become regular contributors to evening dance music programs, will direct his orchestra in a broadcast of musical comedy hits over the NBC-WEAF chain Friday night.

Uncle Abe and David To Return to Air Friday

HERE'S good news for radio fans. Uncle Abe and David, portrayed by Phillips Lord and Arthur Allen, are billed to return to the air. The program is to be a "Down East" skit similar to the previous series as well as being patterned somewhat after "Sunday at Seth Parkers" in which Lord takes the leading role. The program will go on the air twice a night except Sunday, early in the evening for eastern stations and later for the western group.

• • •

Tonight, over the NBC-WJZ hookup Reinald Werrenwrath, noted baritone, will be heard as soloist with an Alumni Glee Club Chorus. The broadcast comes over the air at 10:30 p. m. This is a series of programs to be presented each Friday night at the same time.

• • •

Leo Reisman orchestra features musical comedy hits on the broadcast over the NBC-WEAF chain (WTAM) at 8:30 p. m.

IT'S A FACT—

Most radio singers object to the appellation of "Crooner." The reason they give is that the phrase is being "Too generously applied to anyone who vocalizes, or attempts to, in any form departing from the conventional."

Vaughn De Leath, considered one of the pioneers of this type of singing, Rudy Vallee and Leo Conrad, all dislike being referred to as "Crooners."

• • •

Margaret McKee, whistler, will be guest artist on the program by Nat Brusiloff orchestra, the broadcast coming over the NBC-WJZ chain at 7:30 p. m.

• • •

Annette Hanshaw will come before the microphone at 9 p. m. and sing popular songs, assisted by Eugene Ormandy Orchestra. The program comes over the Columbia network.

• • •

Songs which were popular back as far as 1909 will feature broadcast of old time songs, which incidentally will be heard on the Columbia hookup at 7:30 p. m.

Jack Brooks and Don Ross, for a long time with station WLW, are now heard from Columbia's Chicago studios Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays at 5:30 p. m.

The Stars Say--

For Saturday, June 13

A VERY lively and intriguing state of affairs is promised by the interesting chain of Stellar mutations both by lunar and mutual aspect. Notable will be the breaking away of old crystallizations and impediments, particularly as relates to property interests or personal possessions. This will make way for constructive effort in new channels or in employment, with the promise of fortunate financial conditions and a measure of fulfilled ambitions. Be on guard against treachery.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a very lively and progressive year to follow upon the breaking up of older crystallizations and obstructions. New ventures, sudden changes and favors in employment are foreseen, as well as increase of property and financial stability and fulfilled ambitions.

A child born on this day should be original, independent, skilful and practical, as well as industrious and should reach success in employment as well as financial and property stability.

Chic Star Patterns

Practical and Simple

Slenderize Your Figure.

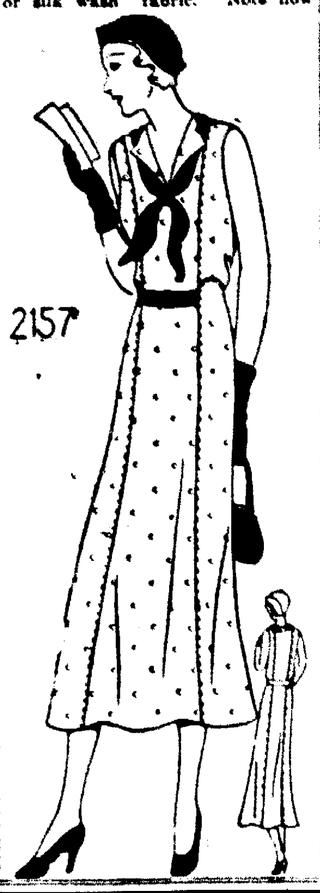
Pattern 2157

Striking in effect, simple in detail and decidedly slenderizing, this sleeveless dress developed in cotton or silk wash fabric. Note how cleverly the side skirt panel joins the bodice so the belt may slip through. You'll love it and it is very easy to make. The tie, or scarf, and the belt lend a colorful note of contrast. The slim panels from neck to hem are extremely kind to all figures as well as very chic. Design 2157 may be made of shantung, pique, dimity, broadcloth, triple voile, silk crepe, etc. Sleeves are included with pattern.

Obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch fabric.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.



COUPON

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents. Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to the pattern department THE MARION STAR BUREAU, Pattern Fashion Syndicate, Inc. 243 West 17th St., New York City.

CHURCH REFINISHED BY CONGREGATION

Greenwood Evangelical Takes New Appearance on Interior.

The congregation of Greenwood Evangelical church decided three years ago to redecorate the church and more than 40 members agreed to work to do the job without outside help.

On June 28, the newly decorated auditorium will be opened to services. The men and women of the congregation began painting and varnishing, many of them after a day's work, and several who were employed at night, worked in daytime.

The walls were painted ivory and the floors and woodwork were all sanded and refinished. New carpet will be laid soon. The only outside work required will be that of a professional painter to stencil a design around the borders of the walls.

Regular church services have not been held for some time because of the work of redecorating. For the next two weeks, Evangelical churches of the city are joining in a camp meeting at Garfield park and the church will not be used.

A member of the congregation donated shrubbery, and soon the lawns around the church will be landscaped.

Sadie Axworthy, 16-2 Shot, Wins in 22-18 Trot Claiming

PRINCE MACK PULLS BRILLIANT FINISH TO CAP 15 CLASS PACE

Locke Bunter Runs Away from Field in 15 Trot; 2,500 in Stands on Third Day.

FAVORITES meant nothing yesterday afternoon to one brown mare, Sadie Axworthy, by name parading under the black and white silks of E. L. Wilson of Logansport, Indiana. Posted as a 16 to 2 shot in the 22-18 trot claiming the first event of the three race program, Sadie turned in two heats of 2.12½ and 2 13¼ to cop the winner's position of the event Lon Dewey finished second close behind the winner.

Lon Dewey took the first heat of the event without much difficulty. "Doc" Parshall piloted his Holly Rood Lexington from fifth to second place in the last quarter mile of the heat but couldn't muster quite enough speed to catch the winner. A distance of about one and one half lengths separated the winner and second place horse.

Lon Dewey again stepped out into a comfortable lead in the second heat of the event but held it only to the first turn when Sadie Axworthy put on a burst of speed that carried her to the front of the field, a position she never lost during the rest of the heat. Parshall again forced Holly Rood Lexington up into second place but lost out when the horse broke and dropped back to fifth. The second heat was closed all the way, the first four horses finishing with less than a length's difference between the four.

Easy for Sadie

Sadie Axworthy romped away from the field in the final heat. Lon Dewey ran second all the way and Beattie never used his whip to drive Sadie home in front

Prince Mack provided all of the feature entertainment in the 15 class pace but it wasn't for first money. Ray Henley copped first money for the event, taking the first two heats without serious competition. In the third heat the battle for second money eclipsed anything which the first two heats offered in the way of speed and cose racing.

McMillen was content to let Prince ease along for the first three quarters of the mile in the last heat, allowing General Brewer and Directmar to battle between themselves for the lead. Directmar apparently had the race in the sack with only about 100 yards to go when Prince Mack suddenly cut loose from the pack and sped to the front, winning the race by a nose. Napoleon G also put on a brilliant spurt in the last hundred yards to take second money forcing General Brewer and Directmar to take the third and fourth posts.

Locke Bunter Wins

Nick Silk, a brown gelding from the Zanesville stables of S Wilson turned in three good races in the 15 class trot event but failed in each of the three to finish ahead of the field. Second was the best he could do finishing in that position all three of the heats. Locke Bunter, owned by R. W. Pitkin of Mt Vernon, O, stepped out in straight heats and took the race, turning in the fastest time of any of the three events of the day's program

Nick Silk got off to a lead in the first heat and held it a half mile but lost it to the winner on the back stretch The field was well scattered for most of the heat but closed up near the end and finished close "Doc" Parshall could do no better than seventh with his Royal Guy although the favorite before the race.

Worthy Wood took the lead in the third heat but lost it to Nick Silk early in the race Parshall piloted Royal Guy around the first lap ahead of the field but fell back when his horse broke Peter Pirrella passed the field on the last turn and came down the stretch a nose ahead of a closely bunched field to win.

Three Races Friday

The final day's program today will consist of three events The feature race of the day will be the 12 class trot which will have some of the best horses of the program on its starting list The next meeting of the circuit will be in Mansfield next week

Here and There at the Races

DRIVERS will get their last opportunity today to break into the double winner column. As yet no one has driven two winners. Cartnall probably can claim the best record with one victory and three seconds. Winners yesterday were Brickerhoff, Hagler and Beattie. Second place drivers yesterday were Cartnall (2) and McMillen

• • •

Three events are listed for the final day's program today. A crack field of starters is lined up for the 12 class trot, the feature of the day. Seven horses will start in this race. The other two races will be the three-year-old pace and the 21 class pace.

• • •

Despite the presence of a circus on the adjoining field which was expected to cut in at least to a certain extent on the crowd, nearly 2,500 persons saw the third day's events. The final day program today is expected to draw the record gate of the meeting.

• • •

Red Bird, the beautiful horse owned and ridden by Mrs. Lucile Aumann, which has led the horses to the past this meeting is an object of fresh admiration every time it prances past the grand stand. Mrs. Aumann will take the mount to Grand Rapids, Toledo and Bellefontaine for the harness races at those places.

• • •

Maybe the driver of the sprinkler truck thought the track needed more water or perhaps he was just asleep at the switch but anyway he got enough water on the stretch on one trip to do for an entire afternoon. The sprinkler nozzle came off on one side and allowed a two-inch stream of water to pour on the track while the driver drove on blissfully ignorant of the fact until he came near the judges' stand. The result was a nice muddy strip about a foot wide straight down the stretch of the track. It wasn't so good.

TONY ROCCO SIGNED TO MEET ROBINSON IN SHOVEL MAT SHOW

Headlock Expert To Clash with "Cyclone Clyde" Lumpkin in Semi-Final.

Two of the outstanding big fellows of the tough game of catch as catch can will feature Clete Kauffman's wrestling show at Shovel gym next Monday night according to announcement by the popular local promoter today.

Kauffman has signed the powerful Italian heavyweight, Tony Rocco from New York City to meet "Cyclone Clyde" Robinson of St Louis in a two best out of three falls match with a time limit of two hours.

Rocco is one of the outstanding heavyweights of New York City and has wrestled on numerous occasions in Madison Square Garden and in other mat centers of the metropolitan district.

The fiery Italian is a headlocker of the killer type and he's shooting with that cranium bursting grip from the moment he sets foot on the wrestling mat.

Robinson will be remembered by local fans for his sensational victory here last week when he handed the popular Father Lumpkin, the Georgia Tech football star his first defeat in a local ring.

Robinson is tough make no mistake about that and when he tangles with the volatile Italian from the big city action will be of the sort that makes mat fans break up the furniture.

Kauffman has also lined up a semi final that is a good main bout in itself

He will present Lumpkin the football star against the powerful Chicago Slav, George LaSane in a two best out of three falls match which will have a one hour limit.

LOUISVILLE SWEEPS SERIES WITH SAINTS

Columbus Toppled by Milwaukee as Shires Has Field Day at Plate.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 12—Manager Albert Leifield of St Paul, today was looking for a way of calming a panic stricken ball club

The Saints left home early this week lending the American Association by one and one half games Today's checkup revealed they were in second place two and one-half games behind Louisville, and struggling to hold onto a half-game margin over Columbus for the runner-up position.

Louisville yesterday made it four in a row over St Paul, Dud Branom's home run in the last half of the ninth inning with a man on, giving the Colonels a 4 to 3 victory

Milwaukee kept Columbus from hopping into second place by defeating the Red Birds, 8 to 4, and evening up the series Jack Knott went the route for the Brewers, and received valuable aid from Charles Arthur Shires, who contributed a double and a single to drive in four Milwaukee runs and score one himself

Bill Knickerbocker, Toledo shortstop broke up a fine pitching battle between Billy Rayne of Kansas City and Ross Bill Ryan, of the Mud Hens by singling with the bases full in the ninth The blow gave Toledo a 2 to 1 decision.

Minneapolis remained in a tie with Toledo for fifth place by downing Indianapolis, 8 to 7, in a night game

FLORIO VICTOR

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O, June 12—The central Ohio amateur district golf championship today belonged to Johnny Florio of Columbus, former state amateur titleholder and a member of the varsity golf team of Ohio State university.

Florio turned in an excellent medal score of 299 over the Shawnee Country club to top the field of 32 yesterday and take the title away from John T. Ruddy of Dayton, medalist in the qualifying round Florio jumped into the lead with a 70 for the first 18 holes.

Ruddy cut down the Columbus star's lead in the second round but Florio, who needed only a five to win on the final hole, shot a four and clinched the title.

SENATORS CHALLENGE LEAD OF CHAMPIONS BY SIXTH VICTORY

Solons Clip Full Game from A's Margin by Trimming Tribe, 12-5.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

As long as the Washington Senators continue to play the kind of baseball they have been displaying for the past month or so, Philadelphia's Athletics are not going to make a runaway of the American league pennant race The A's have compiled a remarkable record so far, running up 35 victories to 12 defeats, but the Senators have remained right on their heels.

Washington's average today was .660, and the Senators were only 3½ games behind after six straight victories. The only fly in the Senator ointment seems to be the refusal of the Athletics to lose a few more games

The Senators clipped a full game from Philadelphia's lead yesterday by trouncing Cleveland 12 to 5. They piled up 15 hits in effective bunches

The A's took their worst beating since early in the season from the St. Louis Browns and their rookie pitcher, Wallace Hebert, the 19-year-old moundsman making his first major league start, held the champions to seven hits to win 8 to 2 The third straight day of bad weather stopped the games at New York and Boston

The margin the St. Louis Cardinals hold over their National league rivals, Chicago and New York, also was clipped to 3½ games yesterday as Socks Seibold held the Cards and four hits and gave Boston a 3 to 0 victory.

Bob Smith gave the Cubs some highly effective mound work and Chicago beat Philadelphia 4 to 2 despite Chuck Klein's fifteenth homer of the season. The Giants had to go eleven innings to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates but came through with a three run rally at the finish to win 8 to 6.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn also waged an eleven inning battle, the Reds winning 2 to 1. Silas Johnson, stocky young Cincinnati hurler, got the better of Dazzy Vance and Jack Quinn on the mound

WHEN a team is unusually weak in pitching strength but possesses a murders' row of batters there is usually a good chance of winning ball games However, when the "murderers' row" fails to function and the club still has no pitching there is about as much possibility of winning ball games as there is of the Cincinnati Reds winning the National League pennant this season.

The Erie Roundhouse club of the Industrial league was in the latter category yesterday when it met the Huber Manufacturing company The hurling staff of the Erie is weak The batting power of the club is generally among the best in the city. Yesterday, however, was a bad day for the batters and as a result the Huber company chalked u pa 6-3 victory over the Railroaders Inability to hit was responsible for costing the losers a lot of runs, 12 men being stranded on the bases during the seven innings of play. The Erie scored three markers in the first inning but after that failed to hit in anything like their usual form

The C., D. & M. clung to its one game lead over the rest of the league entries by handing the Silk Mill nine a 3 to 0 shellacking. Gamble hurled his first game for the Electricians, replacing Applegett, who had already turned in four victories for the club. Burke pitched for the losers. No scorebook for the game was turned in to the league secretary so a complete account is unavailable.

The Ohio Fuel Gas company continued to maintain its position among the leaders by turning in a 7-4 victory over the tail-end Fairfield Engineering company representatives The Fairfield staged its usual pet stunt of taking a lead in the early innings and then blowing it later in the game. Four runs in the sixth frame brought the Gas company from behind and gave it a three run lead.

The Marion Steam Shovel nine, which to date has failed to play the class of ball expected of it took a 4-1 decision yesterday from the C. & O. railroaders. The victory kept the Shovel nine within the boundaries of the first division a single game ahead of the Roundhouse.

Batting sprees in the fifth and sixth innings gave the Shovel the majority of its runs. Deal, C & O center fielder, accounted for his team's only run by smashing out a circuit clout in the sixth inning

JUST KIDS — BY AD CARTER

I GOTTA THINK OF SOME WAY TO BUST OFF MY ENGAGEMENT WITH ANGELICA STOODLE—HER FATSO
CAN YOU TELL ME ABOUT IT YOURSELF—I DON'T WANT NO MORE BLACK EYES
DONT BREATHE TOO LOUD CAUSE I'M THINKIN' WITH MY BRAIN—FATSO
I GOT A GOOD IDEA—HUSH!
SIXTEEN MEN ON A DEAD MAN'S CHEST
YO-HO-HO AN' A BOTTLE OF SASPIRILLA
JUST WHAT WILL ANGELICA SAY ABOUT THIS

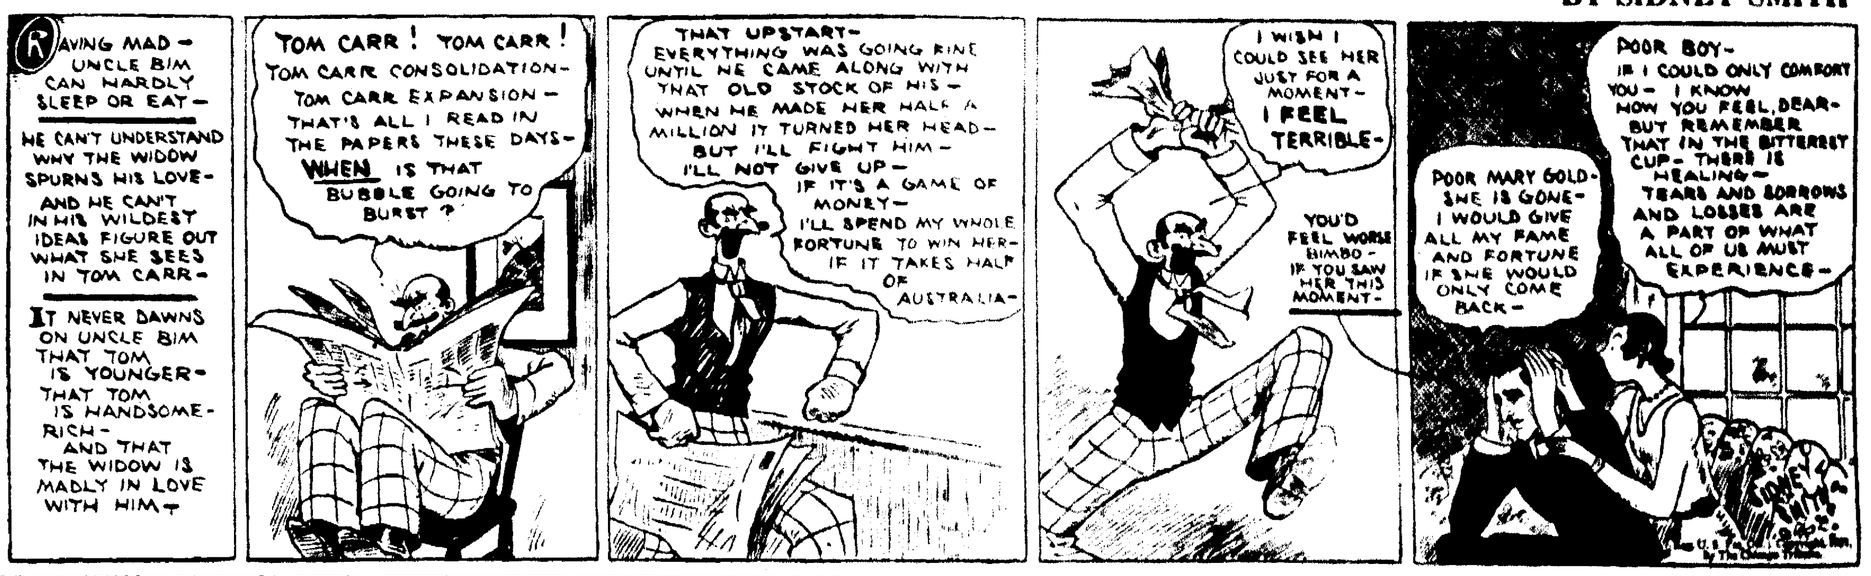
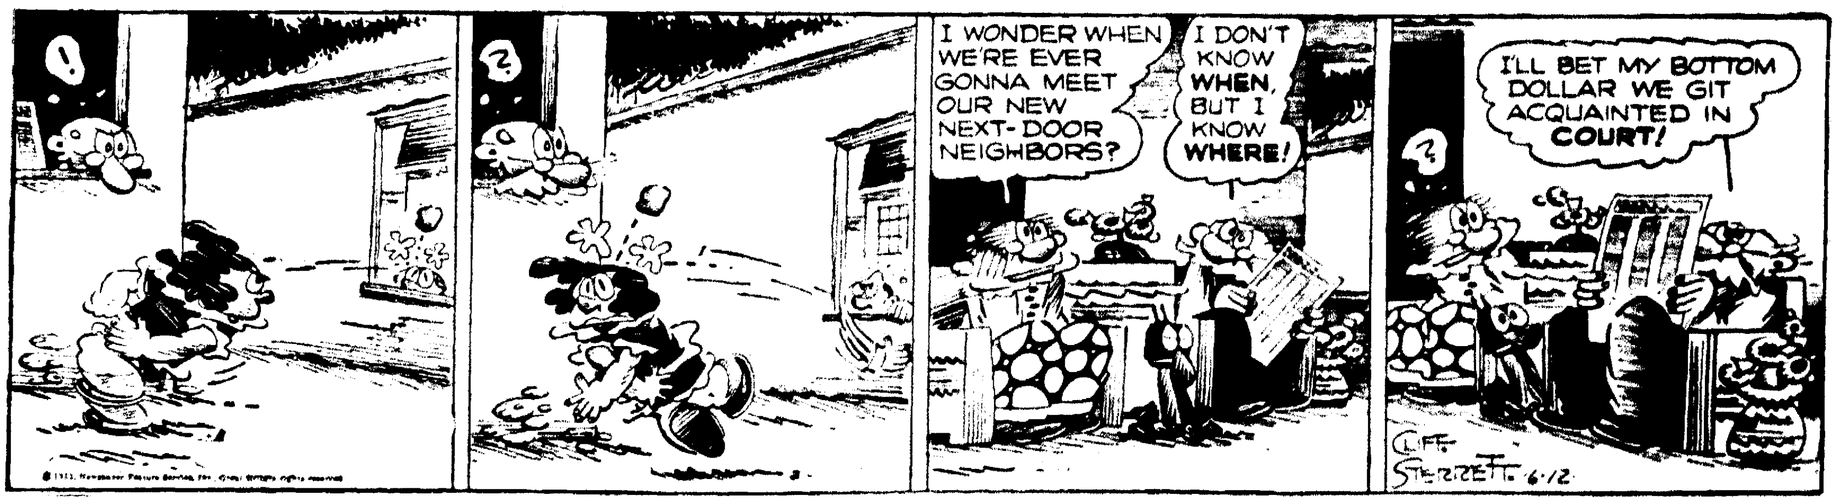
THE GUMPS — BY SIDNEY SMITH



RAVING MAD— UNCLE BIM CAN HARDLY SLEEP OR EAT—
HE CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY THE WIDOW SPURNS HIS LOVE—
AND HE CAN'T IN HIS WILDEST IDEAS FIGURE OUT WHAT SHE SEES IN TOM CARR—
IT NEVER DAWNS ON UNCLE BIM THAT TOM IS YOUNGER— THAT TOM IS HANDSOME— RICH— AND THAT THE WIDOW IS MADLY IN LOVE WITH HIM—
TOM CARR! TOM CARR! TOM CARR CONSOLIDATION— TOM CARR EXPANSION— THAT'S ALL I READ IN THE PAPERS THESE DAYS— WHEN IS THAT BUBBLE GOING TO BURST?
THAT UPSTART— EVERYTHING WAS GOING FINE UNTIL HE CAME ALONG WITH THAT OLD STOCK OF HIS— WHEN HE MADE HER HALF A MILLION IT TURNED HER HEAD— BUT I'LL FIGHT HIM— I'LL NOT GIVE UP— IF IT'S A GAME OF MONEY— I'LL SPEND MY WHOLE FORTUNE TO WIN HER— IF IT TAKES HALF OF AUSTRALIA—
I WISH I COULD SEE HER JUST FOR A MOMENT— I FEEL TERRIBLE—
YOU'D FEEL WORSE BIMBO— IF YOU SAW HER THIS MOMENT—
POOR MARY GOLD— SHE IS GONE— I WOULD GIVE ALL MY FAME AND FORTUNE IF SHE WOULD ONLY COME BACK—
POOR BOY— IF I COULD ONLY COMFORT YOU— I KNOW HOW YOU FEEL, DEAR— BUT REMEMBER THAT IN THE BITTEREST CUP— THERE IS HEALING— TEARS AND SORROWS AND LOSSES ARE A PART OF WHAT ALL OF US MUST EXPERIENCE—

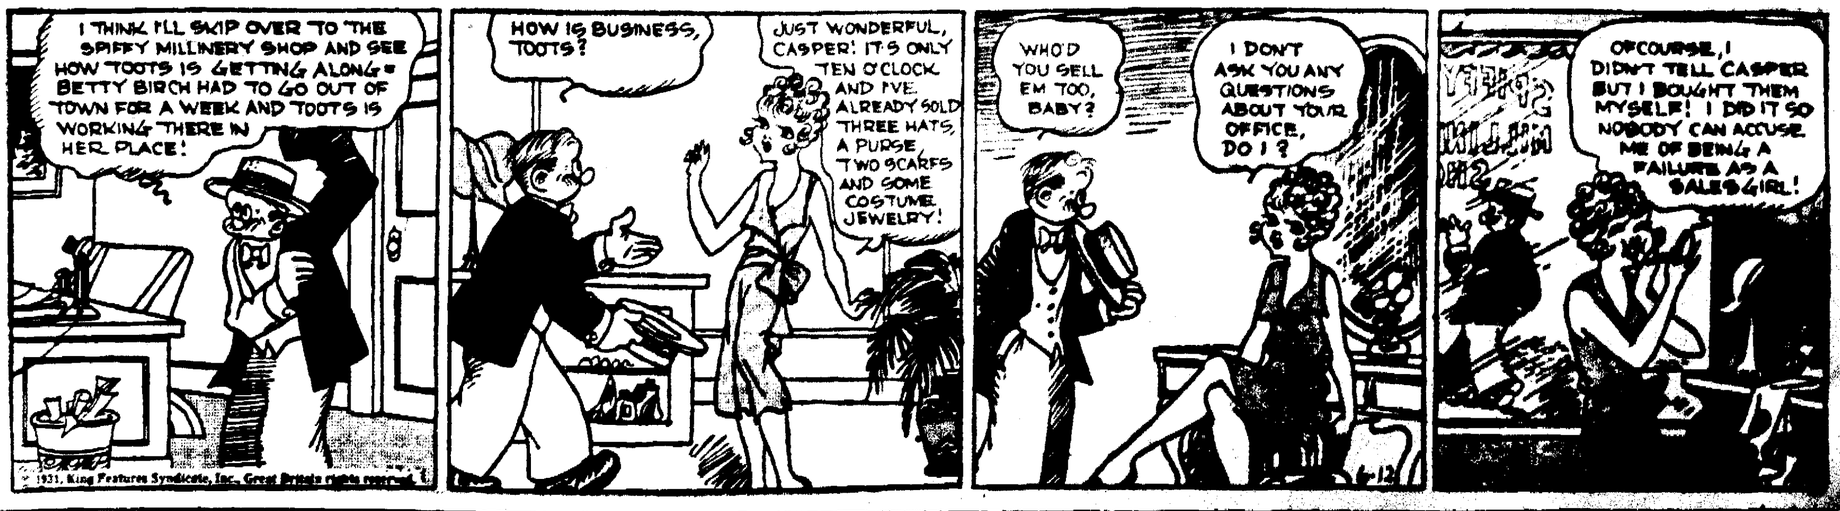
POLLY AND HER PALS — BY CLIFF STERRETT



I WONDER WHEN WE'RE EVER GONNA MEET OUR NEW NEXT-DOOR NEIGHBORS?
I DON'T KNOW WHEN, BUT I KNOW WHERE!
I'LL BET MY BOTTOM DOLLAR WE GIT ACQUAINTED IN COURT!
CLIFF STERRETT 6-12

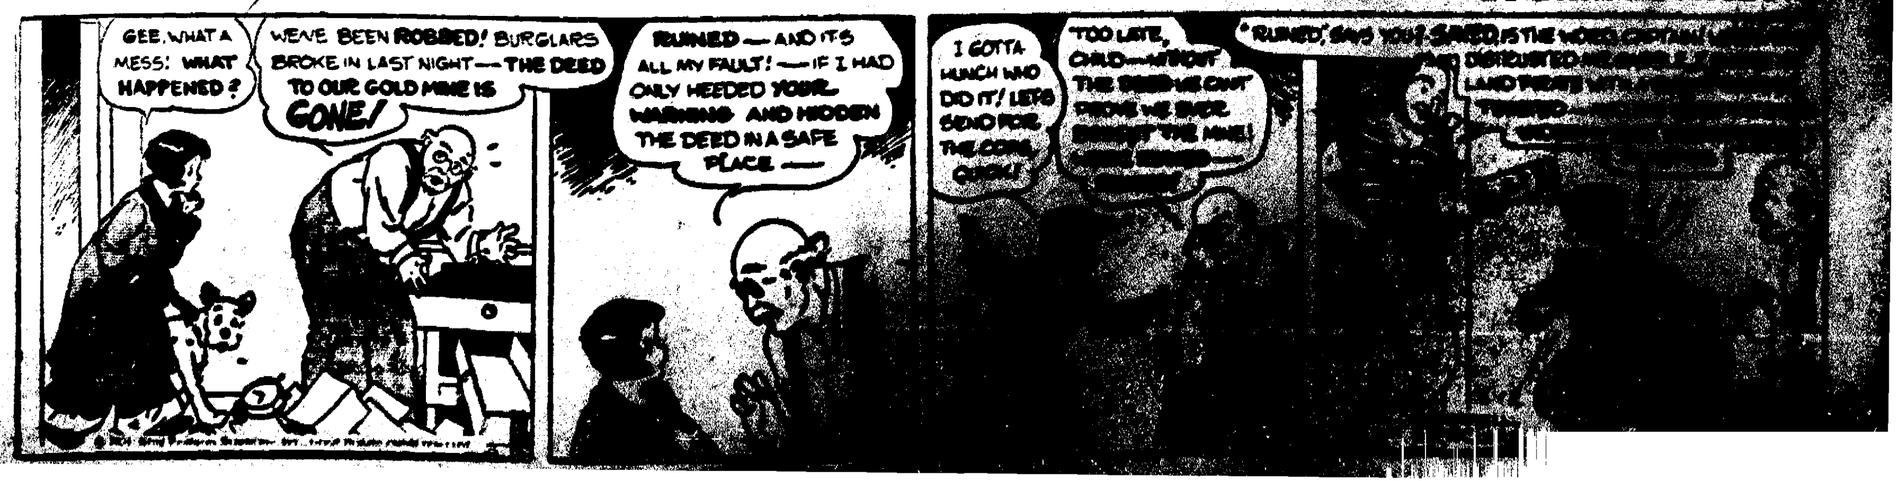
CRAZY KAT — BY HERRIMAN

TOOTS AND CASPER — BY JIMMY MURPHY



I THINK I'LL SKIP OVER TO THE SPIFFY MILLINERY SHOP AND SEE HOW TOOTS IS GETTING ALONG— BETTY BIRCH HAD TO GO OUT OF TOWN FOR A WEEK AND TOOTS IS WORKING THERE IN HER PLACE!
HOW IS BUSINESS, TOOTS?
JUST WONDERFUL, CASPER! IT'S ONLY TEN O'CLOCK AND I'VE ALREADY SOLD THREE HATS, A PURSE, TWO SCARFS AND SOME COSTUME JEWELRY!
WHO'D YOU SELL 'EM TOO, BABY?
I DON'T ASK YOU ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR OFFICE, DO I?
OF COURSE, I DIDN'T TELL CASPER BUT I BOUGHT THEM MYSELF! I DID IT SO NOBODY CAN ACCUSE ME OF BEING A FAILURE AS A SALESGIRL!
1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

ANNIE ROONEY — BY DARREL McCLURE



GEE, WHAT A MESS! WHAT HAPPENED?
WE'VE BEEN ROBBED! BURGLARS BROKE IN LAST NIGHT— THE DEED TO OUR GOLD MINE IS GONE!
RUINED— AND IT'S ALL MY FAULT!— IF I HAD ONLY HEEDED YOUR WARNING AND HIDDEN THE DEED IN A SAFE PLACE—
I GOTTA HUNCH WHO DID IT! LET'S SEND FOR THE COPS, CHIEF!
"TOO LATE, CHILD— RIGHT THERE WE ONCE OWNED THE MINE!
"RUINED," SAYS YOU? SAYED IS THE WORD OFTEN DISTURBED

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Today found markets carrying large supplies of practically all kinds of seasonable fruits and vegetables at prices unchanged from yesterday. Home grown vegetables are becoming more plentiful and home grown strawberries are supplying a larger share of the demand.

Prospects for a large crop of home grown berries are very good, grocers say. The abundant rain of the last several weeks has produced a large crop of good quality berries. No predictions as to prices that will prevail at the peak of the season, is being made by dealers. Shipped in berries continue to supply the bulk of the demand at from 20 to 30 cents a quart.

Green vegetables are plentiful and dealers report buying about normal. New peas and green beans were selling today at 15 cents or two pounds for 25 cents. Cucumbers are plentiful and are selling at from 10 to 15 cents each. Spinach was selling today at 10 cents a pound or three pounds for 25 cents.

GRAINS TEND HIGHER TODAY

Renewal of Drouth Anxiety in Canada Adds Impetus to Bull Feeling.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 12—Influenced by reports of clearing weather in Canada, suggesting renewal of drouth anxiety, grains tended upward early today. There were also advices of an apparently inevitable big reduction of wheat acreage in Australia Opening unchanged, wheat afterward showed an all around advance. Corn started unchanged to 1-8 cent higher and continued to point upward.

Wheat traders attached bullish significance to announcement that rainfall in the wheat area of Canada since April 1, had totaled only about 35 per cent of normal. Special importance was given to the showing, this period being the time when usually the Canadian rainfall is the heaviest of the year. Comprehensive summaries from bank sources said wheat growth was unsatisfactory throughout the prairie provinces, and that damage had resulted from soil drifting, particularly in Saskatchewan and southern Alberta.

Complaints of backwardness of the wheat crop in two of the chief producing regions of France attracted notice. There were also advices that fi[illegible] work in Argentina was behind schedule, and that general rains were needed to facilitate plowing Contrasting with Canadian reports, the difficulties of French growers were ascribed to excessive rains. Corn averaged lower as a result of reported heavier movement of old corn Oats were relatively firm with wheat.

Provisions advanced responsive to hog market strength.

JURY TO GET CASE

Suit To Collect Notes Tried in County Court.

The money only action brought by Gordon & Raymond, incorporated, against R. T. Lewis to collect $11,111.10 allegedly due on two notes was expected to go to the jury this afternoon in common pleas court.

The company charges the notes were given in payment for five acres of land purchased in Florida by Lewis. Judgment for the amount of the notes is asked.

In his defense, Lewis testified the company has promised to resell the land for him at considerably more than he paid for it, at the time the deal was closed. This, he charged, was never done.

Jurors in the case are Mrs. Scott Howison, W. W. Jack, P. H. Neidig, Lillian E. Minard, Florence Pickerel, Kathryn B. Smith, V. Gordon Stair, Brian Stalter, Charles S. Mooney, John A. Cooper, Robert Fox and Carl May.

The law firm of Guthery, Strellits & Guthery represent the coporation and J. W. Jacoby is counsel for Lewis.

LARGE CROWD SEES 101 RANCH CIRCUS

Real Wild West Riding Acts Entertain Marionites.

Marion was circus-minded last night. Every seat in the stands around the arena, with the exception of one small reserved seat section, was filled for the performance of the 101 Ranch Wild West show.

Exhibitions of fancy riding, roping, bull-dogging, daring jumps by "Suicide" Ted Elder and his horse, feats of "bronco busting," and the war-whoops of the Indians and their ceremonial dances were presented before the patrons. Five elephants with their trainers put on one of the fastest-moving and most difficult acts seen here in any of the circuses.

A grand parade of the 101 ranch outfit with everyone in the show marching, opened the performance. A Zouave team put on a snappy drill. The closing spectacle was the burning of a prairie schooner by attacking Indians.

The circus shows in Mansfield today.

WANTS MARKERS

Kenton Club Urges Plan to Divert Route 30 Traffic

KENTON, June 12 - Erection of markers directing tourist travel over the Harding Highway, a portion of federal route 30 through Ohio, has been urged by members of the Kenton Kiwanis club and efforts are to be made to have other cities along the route take similar action.

Recommendations of the club came after a decision of the American Association of State Highway Officials, meeting in Chicago, splitting in route 30 between Delphos and Mansfield. Under the association ruling the Lincoln route between the two places has been designated as U. S. 30 while the Harding highway passing through Lima, Kenton, Marion and Galion was designated as U. S. 30 South.

Since the national group failed to designate the two routes as North and South, cities along the Harding way feel that a discrimination has been made.
